with us, you're making the right choice.

In the complex subsea industry of today, making the right job decisions isn't always easy.

But you've already made a good one in considering Subocean as an option.

Because we aim to keep it simple: offering the best subsea opportunities around the world to the right people.

As an international project and marine personnel agency – the lead player in our market – we're the agency of choice.

The advantages of linking up with us are diverse: from our competitive rates and conditions to the opportunity to work with some of the leading contractors in the industry. And an onshore support system that is second-to-none.

Many key personnel now work with us on a regular basis – testimony to the advantages we offer.

Our philosophy is straightforward: the safety and welfare of our offshore personnel is our key focus, each employee worthy of quality, individual attention.

The opportunities we routinely offer are as diverse as the industry itself.

If you've the right credentials, the right attitude, we're right for you.

if you're right for us...

We are specialists across the subsea spectrum, providing personnel covering everything from key management and administration posts to every project and diving discipline the industry requires.

The list is comprehensive... see back page

From our humble beginnings supplying a handful of riggers and technicians to the local industry in Aberdeen, Scotland, we've become an international, multi-discipline agency providing personnel of the highest calibre.

Providing you hold English-speaking skills, the right certification and relevant work experience in your discipline, you are a potential Subocean Personnel Supply Agency employee – and potentially part of our exciting growth plans that are set to yield new opportunities.

What you need:

- Valid qualification certificates
- Valid offshore survival and medical certificates
- A valid passport
- Valid Seaman's book.

What we offer:

An excellent recruitment service and opportunities with blue-chip subsea contractors in the UK, Europe and worldwide.

...we're right for you

Our people are our success. That is why we provide quality terms and conditions, and offer support programmes so personnel can ensure their skills are maintained and enhanced, and their full potential realised.

Our personnel supply services agency and in-house management support team are immensely experienced, and form the foundation of all our activity.

Their skills and expertise encompass everything associated with the recruitment of offshore personnel, travel and logistics support (including visas, vaccinations and healthcare advice), certification, safety guidance, and more.

And we've a reliable emergency on-call support service, ready to respond 24/7.

Remuneration?

Our personnel are on full pay and full expenses from door to door. Payroll is on time and accurate. (Some senior disciplines have their own set promotional structure, featuring higher pay rates over time).

As your employer, we'll always provide support for you throughout your individual assignments.

All in all, it's a package that underlines why we're the leading agency in our field.

Send your CV and relevant certification (see what you need) to us at:
